DETAILED ACTION

Terminal Disclaimer

1. The terminal disclaimer filed on 6/1/09 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of prior patent 7,275,660 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1-43 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 1-19 of copending Application No. 10/564,315. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that copending application since the referenced copending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other copending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

4. Claims 1-23 provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 1-19 of copending Application No. 10/542,507. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that copending application since the referenced copending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other copending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

5. Claims 1-23 provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 1-26 of copending Application No. 11/587,442. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that copending application since the referenced copending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other copending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

7. Claims 42 and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In claim 42, “the transmission element attached to a middle portion of the cantilever spring and the actuating member is attached to a distal end of the cantilever spring” is not supported in specification.

In claim 43, “a second spring disposed between the cantilever spring and the transmission element; wherein the cantilever spring and the second spring are configured such that the cantilever spring is displaced before the second spring” is not supported in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. Claims 1, 15, 16, 19-21, 31-33, 36, 37 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Klein (5,482,030). Klein discloses, in figs. 3 and 4, a dose indicator comprising a rotary counting means 12 having indication means 14; an actuator member 52 actuated by a transmission element 38 adapted to cooperate with a moving part 30 of a dispensing device; a cantilever spring 42 cooperate with the actuator member and the transmission element to move the actuator member greater than the transmission member to cause a rotary wheel 12 to rotate.

10. Claims 1, 15, 16, 19-21, 31-33, 36-38, 40 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Horlin (WO 01/37909). Horlin discloses, in figs. 1, 3, 4 and 7, a dose indicator comprising a rotary counting means 24 having indication means 21; a disk member 9 comprising an actuator member 30 actuated by a transmission element 32 adapted to cooperate with a moving part of a dispensing device; a cantilever spring 33 cooperate with the actuator member and the transmission element to move the actuator member greater than the transmission member to cause a rotary wheel 24 to rotate.

11. Claims 1, 15, 16, 19-21, 31-33, 36-38, 40 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Quyang et al. (7,407,066). Quyang et al. disclose, in figs. 1 and 2, a dose indicator comprising a rotary counting means 40 having indication means 45; a disk member 41, 42 comprising an actuator member 50 actuated by a transmission element 42 adapted to cooperate with a moving part of a dispensing device; a cantilever spring 51, 52 cooperate with the actuator member and the transmission element to move the actuator member greater than the transmission member to cause a rotary wheel 40 to rotate.

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-43 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
